INTERLOCKING RUBBER TILES

Sunflex interlocking rubber tiles are a great flooring solution for everything from a home fitness to a high traffic commercial fitness facility. They are easy to install and endure a long time.

Interlocking rubber tiles are perfect for a variety of applications, including house owners, contractors, residential fitness, basements, kennels, personal training, anti-vibration, backyards, and walkways.

The innovative design securely binds the rubber tiles together without the need for costly adhesives, tapes, or the help of a fitter. To install, just align the tabs and press them together with your fingers or a rubber mallet. The interlocking rubber floor tiles can be dismantled and reassembled without damage. It can be easily moved from one location to another.
